

The Smile Management in the Maxillo Facial Deformities

Dr. Nadim Aboujaoude, Lebanon

Who can deny the importance of beauty in our daily life? This has been the case since the old times; Aristotle said “Beauty is a greater recommendation than any introduction”.

In our modern times we all know that this gets to be very important and our practice is overwhelmed by patient asking to enhance their smile. This can range from a single tooth correction to a complex case situation. Still there will always be a special category of patients who will desperately need an enhancement of their smile for their better social integration in the society.

The cases we will discuss will cover the different types of smile enhancement, the young, the aging, the facial deformities in all their aspects from congenital to acquired, due to trauma or iatrogenic treatment.

We will stress on the team approach treatment and the role of the different specialties in the treatment of the difficult cases.
